About us

Quarriers Renfrewshire Head Injury Service provides support for 17- to 64-year-olds living in the Renfrewshire Council area who have experienced an acquired brain injury and/or their carers.

People eligible for the service are those who have experienced an acquired brain injury. Some examples of this include:

- sporting injury
- road traffic accident
- assault
- industrial injury
- fall
- infection, e.g chicken pox, encephalitis, meningitis

What we do

We provide brain injury awareness and strategies to help the person on a day-to-day basis and set realistic goals.

We do this by working with the person, their family and carers either within groups or on a one-to-one basis to overcome the short- and long-term effects of their injury.

Access to the service

Quarriers Renfrewshire Head Injury Service accepts telephone referrals from:

- the person with brain injury
- carers, friends and family
- social work department
- GPs
- health professionals
- disability employment advisors

“The service gave me my life back. I am a thousand times better than what I was after the accident. I would still be talking rubbish and not have a clue what was going on.”

How can we help?

Quarriers Renfrewshire Head Injury Service works with statutory, health and social work services to supplement existing support.

We work to:

- enable people to maximise their potential.
- provide people with tools and strategies to manage the activities and tasks of daily living.
- increase brain injury awareness and understanding of the impact on the individual and their family.
- co-ordinate and collaborate with other services.
